Cheryl's Story: February 2012 when we had the privilege of Gail coming to inspire us about this approach: Prepare the environment, set up the room, extend invitation (Would you...?) demonstrate, error free, meet the needs, interest, skill, and abilities of your resident, enjoy and say thank you. This may sound like common sense, but when you read Gail's books, study and practice this technique the benefits outweigh the work involved; and let me add there is work/time involved in truly understanding/practicing Montessori, but oh so worth it!...
